He has taught hermeneutics and other subjects as an adjunct professor at William Jessup University. Kevin has authored several books: God Is My Guide, God's Words for Life, Growing God's Way, and Leading God's Way. He is a regular speaker at churches, conferences, retreats, high schools, and other business organizations.

Host Entertainer: Rev. John Lee Hooker Jr.

John Lee Hooker Jr. was born in Detroit "Motor" City with Delta blues-filled blood running through his Motown veins. As the son of the great John Lee Hooker, he was exposed to the life of the blues from a young age. From a young age he knew that he wanted to follow the path of his father and become a world-class musician. Unfortunately, while living the "life of a bluesman" he succumbed to the demons that surround it, derailing his musical career for many, many years. Drugs, alcohol, divorce, incarceration, and death nearly brought his once promising career to a screeching halt, but it was living the blues and his faith in the Almighty that resurrected him. John Lee, now an ordained minister reaches out to those in prisons and continues to use his music to inspire others and to share the gospel of Christ.
